Re: Federal Trade Commission - RED FLAGS RULE

As you know from the many e-mails on this subject, the Federal Trade Commission delayed enforcement of the new "Red Flags Rule" until November 1, 2009, to give small businesses, creditors and financial institutions more time to develop and implement written identity theft prevention programs. The time is drawing near! For those of you who have still not completed their procedure or process, I have attached the 'Do-It-Yourself' Prevention Program template. For more information, including a video, please go to:
